West Valley City and was also visible from I-215. The RDA had negotiated for the sale of this property for years and now was poised to purchase and redevelop it as Class A Office space, with all the amenities and architectural details appropriate for Fairbourne Station. The purchase contract was structured to allow for a lengthy and thorough due diligence period and the option to back out of the contract with very minor penalties at any time before the closing date.

City Manager, Wayne Pyle, stated that within the contract there was a very specific due diligence period of 120 days that could also be extended twice, 30 days at a time. He indicated there was little risk of losing earnest money during this time period. He also indicated the City had been working with the property owners for a long time but would ensure everything was in order before proceeding further.

Upon discussion and inquiry by Councilmember Rushton regarding negotiating tactics, the City Manager advised that often modifications were made as the process progressed and added that City staff was moving forward with the City Council's goals in mind. He discussed the Council's vision for the subject property being high density office space with some retail. He stated this could be upscaled or downscaled based on the market.
