CONNECT

In February 2016, West Valley City announced its high-speed Wi-Fi initiative, West Valley City Connect, which will bring free Wi-Fi to city parks and buildings, allowing visitors to enjoy internet access with connection speeds up to 100 times faster than the national average.

“We are excited to offer free Wi-Fi to our residents and visitors,” says West Valley City Manager Wayne Pyle. “This will allow people to stay connected to their families and to their work while they enjoy soccer or baseball games at our parks, when they work out at our Family Fitness Center or enjoying different events at our Cultural Center. Offering Wi-Fi at our parks and our facilities enables West Valley City to become one of the most connected cities in the country.”

Centennial Park and the West Valley City Family Fitness Center are the first locations to offer free West Valley City Connect Wi-Fi with plans to expand to more than 20 city parks and city facilities in 2016. When completed, West Valley City will boast the largest number of public parks and spaces with free Wi-Fi access in the state.
