

A close-up photograph of a white, textured surface, likely a car tire tread, showing a repeating pattern of small, rounded, diamond-shaped protrusions. The texture is highly detailed and occupies most of the frame. Overlaid on the right side of the image is the text "where did my car go?" in a bold, red, sans-serif font with a white outline. The text is arranged vertically, with "where" at the top, "did" below it, "my" below that, "car" below that, "go" below that, and a large question mark at the bottom.
